Follow these simple steps to submit your cases to Veterinary Record Case Reports. You will need a personal or institutional* subscription code. New users online can purchase a subscription online.

*ask your librarian or head of department

1. Click on ‘Submit an article’

2. All authors need to register once on the submission system (ScholarOne Manuscripts). Authors that have registered can login using their ‘User ID’ and ‘Password’.

   First time authors will need to register by clicking on ‘Register here’ and complete all the three steps circled. Ensure you complete all the fields marked (req). At the end of step 3 on the ‘User ID & Password page’ click on finish to complete the registration form.
3 You will now need to either click on 'login' or go back to the vetrecordcasereports.bmj.com and click on 'submit an article' and login.

4 To submit your article click on 'Click here to submit a new manuscript'.

5 When you get to the 'Details & Comments' section you will be asked to enter a BMJ customer number to prove that you, or your institution, has access to Veterinary Record Case Report. You can get your institution's subscription code from the person who purchased the subscription (probably your head of department or librarian).

6 To submit your article ensure all the 7 steps are completed correctly and then click on the 'Submit' button at the end of the page.

If you have any problems submitting your paper or finding your 'subscription code' please contact support@bmj.com or telephone +44 (0) 20 7111 1105
